

PRESS RELEASE

Contact: Steve Bradley
Tel: 01946 514069
Fax: 01946 514091
Email: Steve.Bradley@westlakes.ac.uk
Date: 18 June 2002

FREE WEEKEND FOR TWO AT IDYLIC COUNTRY INN

Two lucky people will enjoy a weekend to remember in the beautiful Lake District. Westlakes Scientific Consulting (WSC) has teamed up with a country hotel to give delegates to the IWM conference a chance to win a FREE WEEKEND away.

Based in the Lakes, WSC appreciates landscape and environmental quality, not least because of the views on its doorstep. Working with industries that have complex waste management and disposal problems, WSC experts monitor, model and put science to work to understand, solve or mitigate impacts on human health and the environment. When the Foot and Mouth Disease Crisis swept the Lake District, as leading independent scientists WSC monitored the burning animal pyres and assessed the risks to the local population. The first scientific measurements and interpretation of dioxin releases from these pyres were announced by WSC. The Lake District environment is now recovering. Teaming up with the Bridge Inn, one of our most popular local hotels that suffered from the decline of tourism in the wake of Foot and Mouth, we offer delegates the chance to rediscover our beautiful part of the World.

Westlakes Scientific Consulting Ltd will be situated at Stand 208 in the Recycling Village where business cards can be submitted as entry to the competition.

...ENDS...

CAG
14/06/02

PRESS/02-006/CAG